The Politics of Postcommunist Eastern Europe
Office Hours in 311 Anderson:
M 12:40-1:40; W 12:40-1:40 & 2:45-3:45; and by appointment

Description
This class will provide a survey of the politics of postcommunist Eastern Europe, from the emergence of national states in the interwar period to their accession to the European Union. Just as the collapse of the region's communist regimes took social scientists by surprise in 1989, so too has the divergence of political and economic trajectories since. In some countries, democratic institutions were swiftly consolidated. In others, free elections produced "illiberal democracies." Likewise in the economic sphere, outcomes have varied widely: while some governments quickly managed difficult reforms and laid the conditions for growth, others faced extended economic stagnation. Finally, a number of the region's states have joined the European Union and NATO, a process that, arguably, has deepened democracy and cemented economic reforms even as it adds new complexity to the postcommunist transition. In short, the range of outcomes in postcommunist Europe makes the region an ideal laboratory for testing the explanatory power of major theories of comparative politics. Our survey of political and economic developments in this region will cover democratization and political participation; privatization and macroeconomic reform; nationalism and ethnic conflict; as well as regional integration. Though we will cover the whole region, the countries that will receive primary consideration are Poland, the former Czechoslovakia, Hungary, the former Yugoslavia, and Romania.

Requirements
• Attendance (10% of grade),
  - One unexcused absence over the course of the semester is allowed; after that, unexcused absences count against your attendance grade. Excused absences do not count against your grade, but these require prior consultation with the instructor. According to the Office of the University Registrar, "acceptable reasons for absence from class include illness, serious family emergencies, special curricular requirements (e.g., judging trips, field trips, and professional conferences), military obligation, severe weather conditions, religious holidays and participation in official university activities such as music performances, athletic competition or debate. Absences from class for court-imposed legal obligations (e.g., jury duty or subpoena) must be excused." For further information about the University of Florida's attendance policy, please see the current Undergraduate Catalogue (http://www.registrar.ufl.edu/catalog/policies/registration/attendance.html).
• Participation in class activities (25% of grade),
  - In addition to participation in class discussions (5% of grade), these include 4 short response papers (1 page double-spaced, 5% of grade each). For these response papers, there will be five possible dates/topics (see below) for submitting these, and you can choose three from among them.
• Midterm examination (30% of grade)
• Final examination (35% of grade)

Student participation is a very important component of this course. I assume full and active engagement with the readings, lectures, and discussions in the class. In the interests of fairness and given the size of the course, there will be no extra credit assignments.

Policy on Exam Make-Ups
I will only schedule exam make-ups for students who contact me by email at least a day before the exam and who can provide official documentation why they were physically unable to take the exam.
