POLITICS AND INSTITUTIONS OF THE EUROPEAN UNION

Course Description

The creation and development of the European Union is one of the most fascinating political events of the last century. It represents a unique opportunity to study the evolution of a political system without having to rely solely on historical documents. In the past half-century, the EU has grown from a set of weak /poorly defined institutions with a limited policy domain and an emphasis on national sovereignty into an extensive political system with increasingly strong supranational actors influencing all aspects of political and economic life. What began in 1951 as an experiment in cooperation in the coal and steel sectors among six states has grown to be a formal political and economic union between 28 member states from Estonia to Ireland and Malta to Sweden (and it is still growing). The goal of this course will be to examine this transformation both theoretically and historically from a comparative politics perspective, keeping in mind the changing (and growing) global role of the EU.

Course Objectives

This course offers a critical, theoretical and historical approach to the evolution of institutions and policy-making in the EU. The first part of this course will survey the origins and evolution of the European integration process by incorporating missed opportunities and failed projects. This way, students will have a broader understanding of the context in which the alternative tracks got vanished along the way. Looking at the integration project from a historical perspective will allow students learn about different perspectives on European integration in different member states, particularly in Germany, France, and Britain. The second part of the course deals with theoretical and conceptual approaches that have tried to explain European integration and EU politics. The third part of the course introduces the European institutions from a comparative perspective. Students will gain a critical perspective to the type of polity the EU has become and its democratic implications. The last part of the course will cover an array of European policies to demonstrate the various ways in which such policies have evolved and how they operate.

Course Materials

The lectures will provide a basis for discussing the reading materials. The instructor will give lectures during the first half of each session. Students are expected to be attentive to the lectures and take notes to succeed in exams. The lectures will be followed by a discussion about the specifics of readings.

Quote of the Semester:

“Several blind men approached an elephant and each touched the animal in an effort to discover what the beast looked like. Each blind man, however, touched a different part of the large animal, and each concluded that the elephant had the appearance of the part he had touched. Hence, the blind man who felt the animal’s trunk concluded that an elephant must be tall and slender, while the fellow who touched the beast’s ear concluded that an elephant must be oblong and flat. Others, of course, reached different conclusions. The total result was that no man arrived at a very accurate description of the elephant. Yet each man had gained enough evidence from his own experience to disbelieve his fellows and to maintain a lively debate about the nature of the beast.”

-- Puchala, “Of Blind Men, Elephants and International Integration”

Required Readings

There are two textbooks required to be purchased. The following books provide a good selection of recent and easy-to-read articles written by well-known scholars on a variety of crises affecting the European integration project and it can be purchased from University of Florida Campus Bookstore or online.

1. Michelle Cini and Nieves Perez-Solorzano Borraran eds. European Union Politics. 5th Edition. Oxford: Oxford University Press, 2016.
2. Hubert Zimmermann and Andreas Dür eds. Key Controversies in European Integration. 2nd Edition. London: Palgrave Macmillan, 2016.

Note that earlier editions are NOT acceptable under any circumstances.

The first textbook will be hereinafter referred to as “EUP” and the second textbook will be hereinafter referred to as “KC”. The first textbook will provide the basis for my lectures and the second textbook will provide a basis for discussion. The other required materials (journal articles, book chapters, videos) will be available online via Canvas. If you have problems accessing the required materials, please let me know as soon as possible so that I can contact either the library or the bookstore to make sure you have the materials for each of our sessions. In order to have off-campus access to library licensed articles you must authenticate yourself to the UF network. UF libraries recommend installing the ‘Virtual Private Network’ software for this purpose. If you connect from campus, another way suggested by our libraries is to search the article on Google Scholar, which “enables checking to see if access to full text has been licensed by the UF Libraries (and connecting to it if it does)”. Please familiarize yourself with various ways to access academic publications. This skill is also crucial to conduct successful research for your final papers. The instructor will use Canvas e-learning system to communicate with students. The page of the course will frequently be updated to include relevant visual materials, required and recommended readings.

Course Requirements and Student Responsibilities

Prerequisites

While no formal requirements are necessary to take this course, some background in political science is useful, especially CPO 2001. Basic knowledge regarding European history will also be useful. Awareness of current events will also aid students in gaining a more complete understanding of the European Union and its role in the world. Students who are on European Studies or European Union Studies track are especially encouraged to enroll as the course provides a unique opportunity to learn about history, institutions, politics and policies of the European Union with a highly up-to-date and relevant set of readings and visual materials.

Attendance is required and necessary. Any unexcused absences will count against the attendance grade. Acceptable reasons stated on UF undergraduate catalog of 2017-2018 for absence from or failure to participate in class include “illness, serious family emergencies, special curricular requirements, military obligation, severe weather conditions, religious holidays and participation in official university activities such as music performances, athletic competition or debate.” If possible, contact your instructor in advance via e-mail to inform about your absenteeism and if you have any official excuse letter to submit, please do it in a timely manner during office hours or after class.

Active Participation in class discussions is required. This includes asking and responding to questions, being able to summarize and criticize the reading material, citing relevant news on the issue, engaging in a meaningful and respectful conversation on the issues with fellow students and the instructor. The use of technology in the classroom is strictly limited to note taking and viewing the reading material. If a student fails to uphold to this principle (texting, video-streaming, browsing social media), the instructor will hold the right to secure a device-free environment for the entire semester because it is proven that “screens generate distraction in a manner akin to second-hand smoke”. Although the use of technology does not help the participation grade, it surely can hurt it.

Group Presentations will be based on the KC textbook. KC readings will be divided up among students for discussion. A team of 2 or 3 students (depending on the size of the class after the drop/add period) will work together to prepare a PowerPoint presentation to summarize the main points in the readings and criticize the viewpoints and to stimulate a discussion in class by posing interesting questions. One of the team members should send the presentation file to my e-mail (abaysal@ufl.edu) at 6 pm- a day before their team's presentation. The division of labor is up to the team members, but each student should have a maximum of 5 minutes to present the material. A total of 15-min presentation should include an overview of discussion questions and start from a question of their choice to lead the discussion. A team which can work in harmony will have a better performance. Any late submission of the presentation file will affect all of the team members' grades on this assignment. The presentations will take place on Feb 1, 22- Mar 20, 22, 29- Apr 5, 12, 17, 24 and the distribution of assignments will take place in class after drop/add period. Any unexcused absences on your presentation day will count as a failing grade on the assignment. There will be absolutely no change of presentation dates unless you find someone else to switch assignments with.

Mid-Term Examinations will mainly assess your commitment to keep up with the weekly readings, lectures and class discussions. There are two take-home mid-term examinations which you will receive through an announcement on Canvas and return in a 24-hour period. As this is an upper-division course the exams will include essay questions and some short answers. The exams are NOT cumulative. The answers should demonstrate mastery of the materials – breadth and depth of knowledge are both important. Given the number and nature of questions I will ask, there is no way students can do readings for the first time and expect to write a good exam in 24 hours. Thus, students should take notes while doing their weekly readings and review the lecture materials, and the presentation files of their peers before I send them the questions. Those who take the time to draft a quick outline of their answers will generally provide better thought-out and more coherent answers (and thus garner better scores). Students are expected to use their assigned texts (book and required supplemental readings provided on Canvas) and their notes from lectures. Students are not expected to use additional external sources. Communication about the exam between students is cheating and will be treated as such. Further guidelines will be provided along with each exam.

Pop Quizzes should be expected if the instructor doubts students' ability to keep up with the weekly readings.

Final Paper Abstract is a 1-2-page abstract, which includes your hypothesis and preliminary thoughts/expectations and research agenda, as well as a bibliography, will be due on Tuesday after the Spring Break (3/13/2018).

Final Paper will constitute one quarter of your grade. It will be to your benefit to begin thinking about it, and working on it early in the semester. This paper will require outside reading. Much of the basic information will come from class, but all specific information pertinent to your topic will come from additional outside sources. All papers must include a title, an abstract, page numbers, headings and subheadings where appropriate, a bibliography that includes all reference materials, footnotes/endnotes where appropriate, and proper in-text citations. Papers must be typed using standard margins, 12pt type and double-spaced. The length of the paper should be 10-12 pages. You may choose any recognized citation format, but you must be consistent throughout. A detailed guideline and paper topic suggestions will be provided during the semester through Canvas e-learning system. Final papers are going to be submitted via e-mail to (abaysal@ufl.edu) on 30th of April at 2 pm AND must be submitted to Turnitin on Canvas for plagiarism check. There is no need to submit a hard copy. You will receive a detailed feedback on Canvas.

Missed exams and late assignments

If a student misses a mid-term exam and has an official excuse, the instructor will provide a make-up exam, however the format will be different. It will include three essay questions and the time limit will be 1 hour. If a student misses his/her presentation without an excuse, there is no make-up. In other cases, the presentation can be scheduled at a later time. If a student fails to meet the deadline for the submission of the final paper, he/she should approach the instructor immediately and ideally before the deadline.

Academic Honesty

Academic dishonesty will NOT be tolerated. In the cases of plagiarism, cheating and other misconducts such as submitting a paper purchased from an outside source, the University policy will be followed. If you are having difficulties understanding the assignment or completing it, please come to my office hours so we can discuss. Further information on limitations can be found in UF Student Conduct and Honor code (<https://www.dso.ufl.edu/sccr/process/student-conduct-honor-code/> )

Policy on Students with Disabilities

The University of Florida is committed to providing academic accommodations for students with disabilities. Students with disabilities requesting accommodations should first register with the Disability Resource Center (352-392-8565, www.dso.ufl.edu/drc/) by providing appropriate documentation. Once registered, a student should present his/her accommodation letter to me supporting a request for accommodations. The University encourages students with disabilities to follow these procedures as early as possible within the semester.

Grading and Assessment

Course requirements will be weighted in the following manner:	Grading Scale

PLEASE NOTE THAT DEPENDING ON THE LEVEL OF FAMILIARITY OF STUDENTS WITH THE COURSE MATERIAL, THE INSTRUCTOR CAN MAKE CHANGES TO THE READINGS OR THEIR ORGANIZATION IN THE SYLLABUS AS NEEDED THROUGHOUT THE SEMESTER. STUDENTS WILL BE INFORMED IN A TIMELY MANNER IN SUCH CASES. IT IS EXPECTED THAT STUDENTS READ ALL THE WEEKLY REQUIRED CONTENT BEFORE OUR TUESDAY SESSION.
