

POS 6933 / WST 6935: FEMINIST INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS

UNIVERSITY OF FLORIDA – SPRING 2024

Professor: Lindsey A. Goldberg, Ph.D. (she/her)

CLASS INFORMATION	PROFESSOR INFORMATION
Day: Mondays	Email: lindsey.goldberg@ufl.edu
Time: 8:30 – 11:30 AM	Student Drop-In Hours: Mondays 2 – 3:30 PM, Tuesdays 10 – 11:30 AM, or by appointment
Classroom Location: Ustler Hall (UST) #108	Office Location: Anderson Hall (AND) #311

To schedule a meeting with me during Student Drop-In Hours, please use the following link:

<https://calendly.com/lindseyagoldberg/student-drop-in-hours>.

COURSE DESCRIPTION

This course explores the history, application, and growth of feminist theory in the study of international relations (IR). While the field of IR has a long history of misconstruing and minimizing the role of gender in global politics, this course centers gender as an analytic framework and as an organizing principle that significantly shapes international relations. In this course, we will begin by examining the theoretical foundations of feminist IR as they relate to some of the central tenets of ‘mainstream’ IR (e.g., power, security, militarism). We will then expand to examining how understandings of global conflict and political violence shift when studied through feminist lenses, how those processes shape local and global understandings of gender, and the political implications of those understandings. In addition to focusing on the study of global conflict, this course will explore the role of gender in myriad other global political dynamics, including peace processes, human rights, international political economy, and more. Students will be evaluated on their ability to critically reflect on the theoretical frameworks, concepts, and empirical approaches examined throughout this course, as well as their scholarly contributions to critical discourse via in-class participation, written assignments, and a final exam. The main objective of this course is to enhance students’ understanding of feminist theory and gender-based research in the field of international relations.

GUIDING QUESTIONS	COURSE GOALS
<ul style="list-style-type: none">• What is feminist theory, and how does it apply to the study of international relations?• How do international relations scholars theoretically and empirically analyze gender in global politics?• How does gender shape global political processes, both at the micro- and macro-level?	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• To understand the theoretical foundations of feminist international relations and its application across the IR discipline• To analyze and evaluate gender-based research in the field of international relations• To critically examine global political processes through gender-analytic lenses and identify students’ scholarly interests/contributions to these areas of research

REQUIRED TEXTBOOKS

The books we will use in this course are listed below. They are all available as eBooks through the UF Libraries website (www.uflib.ufl.edu). Articles will also be assigned throughout the semester. Whenever possible, assigned readings will be available in PDF format on our course Canvas site.

- Berry, Marie E. War, Women, and Power: From Violence to Mobilization in Rwanda and Bosnia-Herzegovina. Cambridge, UK: Cambridge University Press.
- Duriesmith, David. 2017. Masculinity and New War: The Gendered Dynamics of Contemporary Armed Conflict. New York, NY: Routledge.
- Enloe, Cynthia. 2014. Bananas, Beaches, and Bases: Making Feminist Sense of International Politics (Second Edition). Berkeley, CA: University of California Press.
- Gentry, Caron E. and Laura Sjoberg. 2015. Beyond Mothers, Monsters, Whores: Thinking about Women's Violence in Global Politics. London, UK: Zed Books.
- Parashar, Swati, J. Ann Tickner, and Jacqui True (eds). 2018. Revisiting Gendered States: Feminist Imaginings of the State in International Relations. New York, NY: Oxford University Press.
- Sjoberg, Laura. 2013. Gendering Global Conflict: Toward a Feminist Theory of War. New York, NY: Columbia University Press.
- Wilcox, Lauren B. 2015. Bodies of Violence: Theorizing Embodied Subjects in International Relations. Oxford, UK: Oxford University Press.

COURSE ASSIGNMENTS

Attendance & Participation

Students are expected to arrive on time for class every day. For an absence to be considered 'excused,' you must discuss your absence with me in advance and receive my confirmation that your absence will be excused. Providing relevant documentation supporting your need to miss class (e.g., a doctor's note) significantly increases the probability that I will excuse your absence; however, documentation is not always necessary. To read more about UF's attendance policies and what circumstances qualify students for an excused absence, visit <https://gradcatalog.ufl.edu/graduate/regulations/>. In addition to attending class, students are expected to complete the assigned readings and be prepared to participate in class discussions or activities related to those readings. Participation in the course will be evaluated based on the general criteria described below.

- Poor Participation (Grade of D or F): The student rarely offers comments and questions in class and does not demonstrate that they have completed and engaged with the assigned readings.
- Adequate Participation (Grade of C): The student regularly offers comments and questions in class that demonstrate completion of the assigned readings and surface-level engagement with the material.
- Excellent Participation (Grade of A or B): The student regularly offers comments and questions in class that demonstrate not only completion of the assigned readings but also deep engagement with and analysis of the material.

While this class is intended to be a free space for students to share their honest thoughts and questions, I will not tolerate discriminatory, hateful, or antagonistic dialogue. It is okay to disagree with others, and I encourage students to embrace opportunities to exchange perspectives. However, those exchanges must be conducted with respect for different backgrounds, identities, and beliefs and remain relevant to the content of this course. Failure to communicate respectfully in this class will, at minimum, result in receiving a failing grade for participation.

Discussion Leader

Every student will serve as the Discussion Leader in class for one week of the semester. To complete this assignment, students are expected to come to class prepared with a 10-15 minute presentation based on the assigned readings for their assigned week. Students may structure their presentation however they like, but it must go beyond simply reviewing the assigned readings and also include interactive dialogue with the class. For example, a successful Discussion Leader might spend only a few minutes reviewing the primary arguments/findings from the assigned readings and then utilize the rest of their time presenting critical questions for the class to consider and discuss together. This assignment is purposefully flexible in structure, as it is intended to help graduate students hone their own teaching skills. Students are encouraged to embrace creativity in this assignment and focus their efforts on engaging their classmates in fruitful dialogue about the course material.

Self-Evaluation

Halfway through the semester, students will write a one-paragraph self-evaluation of their participation and overall performance in the course up to that point and submit it on Canvas by 11:59pm on Monday, February 26th. In this assignment, students are expected to reflect on their strengths/contributions to the class, their weaknesses/areas for growth, and their plans for improving how they participate and perform in the course for the rest of the semester.

Reading Response Papers

Students are expected to write eight reading response papers throughout the semester. Students may choose which eight weeks they would like to write and submit a reading response paper, and these assignments are always due on Canvas before class on Monday, the same week in which the relevant readings are assigned. For example, if a student chooses to write a reading response paper for the week titled, “Gendering the State,” then their response paper is due on Canvas by 8:30 AM on Monday, February 5th. For this assignment, students are expected to write 2-3 pages (single-spaced, 12-point font, 1-inch margins) analyzing and responding to the assigned readings for that week of the course. This is not a book report! Students should avoid simply summarizing the assigned readings and instead focus on engaging with the authors’ arguments and analyses, debates in the literature, confusions and contradictions, future research directions, etc. Each reading response paper must engage with every assigned reading for that week; however, students do not have to discuss every assigned reading at equal length. A successful reading response paper will make clear to the professor that the student has deeply engaged with the assigned readings for that week and gone to significant effort to consider their significance, strengths, weaknesses, and broader implications for the study of international relations.

Final Exam

Students will take a final exam in this course that is intended to test their grasp on the feminist IR literature covered throughout the semester, its applications in broader contexts, as well as their critical analysis and writing skills. This exam will be structured to replicate half of the IR qualifying exam. As such, students will receive a list of four questions (two on gender in IR theory and two on specific applications of feminist IR research), and they will be expected to write 10-page responses to two of these questions (one of their choice from each category). Students will receive their list of questions on Friday, April 19th, and their answers will be due on Canvas by 11:59pm on Wednesday, April 24th. Students’ performance on this exam will be evaluated based on the general criteria described below:

- Poor Performance (Grade of D or F): The student does not reference or engage with the feminist IR literature assigned throughout the semester, nor do they adequately address the selected questions. The student also does not demonstrate understanding or analysis of the themes or approaches covered in this course.
- Adequate Performance (Grade of C): The student references the feminist IR literature assigned throughout the semester but does not draw connections between that literature and broader applications. The student answers the selected questions but does not thoroughly consider how their responses relate to their own research agenda or the study of international relations.
- Excellent Performance (Grade of A or B): The student references and deeply engages with the feminist IR literature assigned throughout the semester, drawing connections between that literature and broader applications. The student answers the selected questions and connects their responses to their own research agenda and the study of international relations.

OVERVIEW OF COURSE ASSIGNMENTS
Assignment	Due Date	Percentage of Overall Grade
Attendance & Participation	Whole Semester	20%
Discussion Leader	Once During Semester	20%
Self-Evaluation	Monday, February 26 th	10%
Reading Response Papers (8)	Before Class on Mondays	25%
Final Exam	Wednesday, April 24 th	25%

GRADING

At the end of the semester, you will receive one of the letter grades listed below based on the total percentage points you earn throughout the course. For more information about UF's grading policies, please visit: <https://catalog.ufl.edu/UGRD/academic-regulations/grades-grading-policies/>.

Letter Grade	Percentage
A	94-100%
A-	90-93%
B+	87-89%
B	84-86%
B-	80-83%
C+	77-79%
C	74-76%
C-	70-73%

D+	67-69%
D	64-66%
D-	60-63%
E	Less than 60%

PRELIMINARY COURSE SCHEDULE

The assignments and readings on this schedule are subject to change throughout the semester. Students will be given as much advance notice as possible if any changes are made. It is the responsibility of students to keep themselves apprised of any course changes by regularly attending class, checking their emails and Canvas notifications, and communicating with the professor.

Content Warning: Some of the material covered in this course might be triggering. Topics we will discuss include (but are not limited to) sexual violence, death, prejudice, and other forms of emotional and physical injury. I have curated the content of this course to teach graduate students to the best of my abilities. As such, I believe that everything we will cover holds notable educational value. However, I encourage students to do what is necessary to protect their own emotional and mental health. You may step out of the classroom at any point throughout the semester if you do not wish to be present for certain discussions. Please keep in mind that whether you are physically present in class or not, you are still responsible for learning the course material. If you have specific questions or concerns regarding this content warning, please contact me as soon as possible.

Week 1: Introduction to the Course (January 8)

- Hawkesworth, Mary and Lisa Disch. 2016. "Introduction: Feminist Theory: Transforming the Known World," in The Oxford Handbook of Feminist Theory. Oxford, UK: Oxford University Press.
- McNay, Lois. 2016. "Agency," in The Oxford Handbook of Feminist Theory. Oxford, UK: Oxford University Press.
- Masters, Cristina and Marysia Zalewski. 2022. "Feminist International Relations," in Gender Matters in Global Politics (Third Edition). London, UK: Routledge.
- Shepherd, Laura J. 2022. "(Why) Gender Matters in Global Politics," in Gender Matters in Global Politics (Third Edition). London, UK: Routledge.

Week 2: What is International Relations? Part I (January 15)

NO CLASS (Martin Luther King Jr. Day)

Although we will not meet for class this week, you are still expected to complete the following assigned readings. We will discuss these along with next week's assigned readings on January 22.

- Kaufman, Joyce P. 2022. "Introduction: International Relations in a Globalized World," in Introduction to International relations: Theory and Practice (Third Edition). Lanham, MD: Rowman and Littlefield.
- Kaufman, Joyce P. 2022. "Theoretical Overview," in Introduction to International relations: Theory and Practice (Third Edition). Lanham, MD: Rowman and Littlefield.
- Walt, Stephen M. 2014. "How to Get a B.A. in International Relations in 5 Minutes." Foreign Policy. <https://foreignpolicy.com/2014/05/19/how-to-get-a-b-a-in-international-relations-in-5-minutes/>

- Musgrave, Paul. 2016. "Get an International Relations Ph.D. in 5 Minutes." <https://www.paulmusgrave.info/get-an-international-relations-ph-d-in-5-minutes-2/>

Week 3: What is International Relations? Part II (January 22)

- Bachofen, Blaise. 2015. "The Paradox of 'Just War' in Rousseau's Theory of Interstate Relations." American Political Science Review 109(2): 314-325.
- Fearon, James D. 1995. "Rationalist Explanations for War." International Organization 49(3): 379-414.
- Vasquez, John A. 2012. "Territory: Geography, Contentious Issues, and World Politics," in What Do We Know About War? (Second Edition). Lanham, MD: Rowman & Littlefield.
- Walter, Barbara F. 2017. "The New New Civil Wars." Annual Review of Political Science 20: 469-486.

Week 4: 'Seeing Gender' in Global Politics (January 29)

- Enloe, Cynthia. 2014. Bananas, Beaches and Bases: Making Feminist Sense of International Politics (Second Edition). Berkeley, CA: University of California Press.

Week 5: Gendering the State (February 5)

- Parashar, Swati, J. Ann Tickner, and Jacqui True (eds). 2018. Revisiting Gendered States: Feminist Imaginings of the State in International Relations. New York, NY: Oxford University Press.

Week 6: Feminisms and War Part I (February 12)

- Sjoberg, Laura. 2013. Gendering Global Conflict: Toward a Feminist Theory of War. New York, NY: Columbia University Press.

Week 7: Feminisms and War Part II (February 19)

- Berry, Marie E. War, Women, and Power: From Violence to Mobilization in Rwanda and Bosnia-Herzegovina. Cambridge, UK: Cambridge University Press.
- Ferguson, Kathy E. and Sharain Sasheir Naylor. 2016. "Militarization and War," in The Oxford Handbook of Feminist Theory. Oxford, UK: Oxford University Press.

Week 8: Men, Masculinities, and War (February 26)

SELF-EVALUATION DUE ON CANVAS BY 11:59 PM

- Duriesmith, David. 2017. Masculinity and New War: The Gendered Dynamics of Contemporary Armed Conflict. New York, NY: Routledge.

- Hutchings, Kimberly. 2008. "Making Sense of Masculinity and War." Men and Masculinities 10(4): 389-404.
- Wegner, Nicole. 2021. "Helpful Heroes and the Political Utility of Militarized Masculinities." International Feminist Journal of Politics 23(1): 5-26.

Week 9: Gender and Political Violence (March 4)

- Gentry, Caron E. and Laura Sjoberg. 2015. Beyond Mothers, Monsters, Whores: Thinking about Women's Violence in Global Politics. London, UK: Zed Books.
- Wilcox, Lauren B. 2015. Bodies of Violence: Theorizing Embodied Subjects in International Relations. Oxford, UK: Oxford University Press.

Week 10: Spring Break (March 11)

NO CLASS (Spring Break)

No Assigned Readings. Enjoy your break! :-)

Week 11: Women, Feminism, and Peace (March 18)

- Tickner, J. Ann. 1999. "Why Women Can't Run the World: International Politics According to Francis Fukuyama." International Studies Review 1(3): 3-11.
- Caprioli, Mary and Mark A. Boyer. 2001. "Gender, Violence, and International Crisis." Journal of Conflict Resolution 45(4): 503-518.
- Caprioli, Mary. 2003. "Gender Equality and State Aggression: The Impact of Domestic Gender Equality on State First Use of Force." International Interactions 29(3): 195-214.
- Hudson, Valerie M., Mary Caprioli, Bonnie Ballif-Spanvill, Rose McDermott, and Chad F. Emmett. 2009. "The Heart of the Matter: The Security of Women and the Security of States." International Security 33(3): 7-45.
- Melander, Erik. 2005. "Gender Equality and Intrastate Armed Conflict." International Studies Quarterly 49: 695-714.
- Wood, Reed M. and Mark D. Ramirez. 2018. "Exploring the Microfoundations of the Gender Equality Peace Hypothesis." International Studies Review 20: 345-367.

Week 12: Feminist Perspectives on Peacekeeping and Peace Building (March 25)

- Karim, Sabrina. 2018. "Gender and Peacekeeping," in The Routledge Handbook of Gender and Security. New York, NY: Routledge.
- Kunz, Rahel. 2020. "Messy Feminist Knowledge Politics: A Double Reading of Post-Conflict Gender Mainstreaming in Liberia." International Feminist Journal of Politics 22(1): 63-85.
- Hudson, Heidi. 2005. "'Doing' Security As Though Humans Matter: A Feminist Perspective on Gender and the Politics of Human Security." Security Dialogue 36(2): 131-253.

- Hudson, Heidi. 2009. "Peace Building Through A Gender Lens and the Challenges of Implementation in Rwanda and Côte d'Ivoire," in Gender and International Security. New York, NY: Routledge.
- Reeves, Audrey. 2012. "Feminist Knowledge and Emerging Governmentality in UN Peacekeeping." International Feminist Journal of Politics 14(3): 348-369.
- Jansson, Maria and Maud Eduards. 2016. "The Politics of Gender in the UN Security Council Resolutions on Women, Peace and Security." International Feminist Journal of Politics 18(4): 590-604.

Week 13: Gender, Global Governance, and Feminist Foreign Policy (April 1)

- Griffin, Penny. 2022. "Global Governance," in Gender Matters in Global Politics (Third Edition). London, UK: Routledge.
- Shin, Ki-Young. 2016. "Governance," in The Oxford Handbook of Feminist Theory. Oxford, UK: Oxford University Press.
- Aggestam, Karin, Annika Bergman Rosamond, and Annica Kronsell. 2019. "Theorising Feminist Foreign Policy." International Relations 33(1): 23-39.
- Achilleos-Sarll, Columba, Jennifer Thomson, Toni Haastrup, Karoline Färber, Carol Cohn, and Paul Kirby. 2023. "The Past, Present, and Future(s) of Feminist Foreign Policy." International Studies Review 1-29.
- Thomson, Jennifer. 2020. "What's Feminist about Feminist Foreign Policy? Sweden's and Canada's Foreign Policy Agendas." International Studies Perspectives 21: 424-437.
- Bergman Rosamond, Annika. 2020. "Swedish Feminist Foreign Policy and 'Gender Cosmopolitanism.'" Foreign Policy Analysis 16: 217-235.

Week 14: Feminist Perspectives on Global Political Economies (April 8)

- Peterson, V. Spike. 2022. "International/Global Political Economy," in Gender Matters in Global Politics (Third Edition). London, UK: Routledge.
- Barthwal-Datta, Monika and Soumita Basu. 2022. "Land, Water and Food," in Gender Matters in Global Politics (Third Edition). London, UK: Routledge.
- Mills, Mary Beth. 2016. "Gendered Divisions of Labor," in The Oxford Handbook of Feminist Theory. Oxford, UK: Oxford University Press.
- Marchand, Marianne H. and Rocío del Carmen Osorno Velázquez. 2016. "Markets/Marketization," in The Oxford Handbook of Feminist Theory. Oxford, UK: Oxford University Press.
- Bergeron, Suzanne. 2016. "Formal, Informal, and Care Economies," in The Oxford Handbook of Feminist Theory. Oxford, UK: Oxford University Press.
- Kimmel, Michael S. 2003. "Globalization and its Mal(e)contents: The Gendered Moral and Political Economy of Terrorism." International Sociology 18(3): 443-631.
- Meger, Sara. 2015. "Toward a Feminist Political Economy of Wartime Sexual Violence." International Feminist Journal of Politics 17(3): 416-434.

Week 15: Gender, Development, and Human Rights (April 15)

- Halim Chowdhury, Elora. 2016. "Development," in The Oxford Handbook of Feminist Theory. Oxford, UK: Oxford University Press.
- Mohanty, Chandra. 1988. "Under Western Eyes: Feminist Scholarship and Colonial Discourses." Feminist Review 30: 61-88.
- Steans, Jill. 2007. "Debating Women's Human Rights as a Universal Feminist Project: Defending Women's Human Rights as a Political Tool." Review of International Studies 33:11-27.
- Manderson, Lenore. 2007. "Local Rites and Body Politics: Tensions Between Cultural Diversity and Human Rights." International Feminist Journal of Politics 6(2): 285-307.
- Switzer, Heather, Emily Bent, and Crystal Leigh Endsley. 2016. "Precarious Politics and Girl Effects: Exploring the Limits of the Girl Gone Global." Feminist Formations 28(1): 33-59.

RECEIVE FINAL EXAM QUESTIONS ON FRIDAY, APRIL 19TH

Week 16: The Future of Feminist International Relations (April 22)

- Krystalli, Roxani and Philipp Shulz. 2022. "Taking Love and Care Seriously: An Emergent Research Agenda for Remaking Worlds in the Wake of Violence." International Studies Review 24(1): 1-25.
- Daigle, Megan. 2019. "The Intimate and the International: Love, Sexuality, and Queer Feminist IR," in The Routledge Handbook of Critical International Relations.
- Clapton, William. 2022. "Digital Politics," in Gender Matters in Global Politics (Third Edition). London, UK: Routledge.
- Korolczuk, Elżbieta and Agnieszka Graff. 2018. "Gender as 'Ebola from Brussels': The Anticolonial Frame and the Rise of Illiberal Populism." Signs: Journal of Women in Culture and Society 43(4):797-821.
- Shaheen Moosa, Christina and Nancy Tuana. 2014. "Mapping a Research Agenda Concerning Gender and Climate Change: A Review of the Literature." Hypatia 29(3): 677-694.

FINAL EXAM DUE ON CANVAS BY 11:59 PM ON WEDNESDAY, APRIL 24TH

Week 17: Finals Week (Week of April 29)

NO IN-PERSON EXAM

Thank you for your hard work this semester. Enjoy your break! :-)

COURSE POLICIES

Academic Honesty

Academic integrity is a core value of institutions of higher learning. All students, upon enrolling, are held to the Honor Pledge: "We, the members of the University of Florida community, pledge to hold ourselves and our peers to the highest standards of honesty and integrity. On all work submitted for credit by students at the University of Florida, the following pledge is either required or implied: 'On my honor, I have neither given nor received unauthorized aid in doing this assignment.'" It is your responsibility to avoid plagiarism, cheating, and dishonesty. Follow the link below to review UF's policy on academic integrity:

<https://sccr.dso.ufl.edu/policies/student-honor-code-student-conduct-code/>

In this course, papers and other assignments should be your own work. Any material drawn from other sources must be properly cited. Lack of knowledge of the academic honesty policy is not a reasonable explanation for a violation. Questions related to course assignments and the academic honesty policy should be directed to the professor.

Accommodations

Students with disabilities who experience learning barriers and would like to request academic accommodations should connect with the Disability Resource Center. Visit <https://disability.ufl.edu/get-started/> to get started with the Disability Resource Center. It is important for students to share their accommodation letter with their professor and discuss their access needs as early as possible in the semester.

Communicating with the Professor

The best way to communicate with me is via email (lindsey.goldberg@ufl.edu). If you send me an email, please allow 48 hours for me to respond before following up with me about your original message. I will often respond faster than 48 hours later. However, because I avoid checking my work emails in the evenings and on weekends, if you email me during those times, I may not see your message and respond to you right away. That being said, if you send me an email and do not get a response within a few days, please do follow up with me, as it's possible that I have not received or read your message.

Given my 48-hour communication policy, it is your responsibility to practice good time management and begin your assignments in a timeframe that allows you to reach out to me with any questions you may encounter along the way. For example, if an assignment is due by 11:59pm on Friday, you wait to begin the assignment until 5pm on Friday, and you email me a question about it that same evening, I cannot guarantee that I will read your email and answer your question before the assignment is due. Nonetheless, you would be held accountable to the original assignment due date/time.

To schedule a meeting with me during Student Drop-In Hours (see first page of syllabus for days/times), please use the following link: <https://calendly.com/lindseyagoldberg/student-drop-in-hours>.

Course Evaluations

Students are expected to provide professional and respectful feedback on the quality of instruction in this course by completing course evaluations online via GatorEvals. Guidance on how to give feedback in a professional and respectful manner is available at <https://gatorevals.aa.ufl.edu/students/>. Students will be notified when the evaluation period opens and can complete evaluations through the email they receive from GatorEvals, in their Canvas course menu under GatorEvals, or via <https://ufl.bluera.com/ufl/>. Summaries of course evaluation results are available to students at <https://gatorevals.aa.ufl.edu/public-results/>.

Late Work & Due Date Extensions

The late submission of an assignment will result in a deduction of ten percentage points per day it is late, unless alternative arrangements have been made with the professor prior to the assignment due date. Due date extensions will be determined on a case-by-case basis and require the student to initiate communication with the professor about the need for an extension with as much advance notice as possible.

Recording

I will not be recording our class sessions. Regular attendance is expected; when you are absent, you are encouraged to reach out to a classmate to get their supplementary notes from the day of class you missed. For guidance on in-class recording, please visit <http://aa.ufl.edu/policies/in-class-recording/>. Students are allowed to record video or audio of class lectures. However, the purposes for which these recordings may be used are strictly controlled. The only allowable purposes are (1) for personal educational use, (2) in connection with a complaint to the university, or (3) as evidence in, or in preparation for, a criminal or civil proceeding. All other purposes are prohibited. Specifically, students may not publish recorded lectures without the written consent of the instructor.

A “class lecture” is an educational presentation intended to inform or teach enrolled students about a particular subject, including any instructor-led discussions that form part of the presentation, and delivered by any instructor hired or appointed by the University of Florida, or by a guest instructor, as part of a University of Florida course. A class lecture does not include lab sessions, student presentations, clinical presentations such as patient history, academic exercises involving solely student participation, assessments (quizzes, tests, exams), field trips, private conversations between students in the class or between a student and the faculty or lecturer during a class session.

Publication without permission of the instructor is prohibited. To “publish” means to share, transmit, circulate, distribute, or provide access to a recording, regardless of format or medium, to another person (or persons), including but not limited to another student within the same class section. Additionally, a recording, or transcript of a recording, is considered published if it is posted on or uploaded to, in whole or in part, any media platform, including but not limited to social media, book, magazine, newspaper, leaflet, or third party note/tutoring services. A student who publishes a recording without written consent may be subject to a civil cause of action instituted by a person injured by the publication and/or discipline under UF Regulation 4.040 Student Honor Code and Student Conduct Code: <https://sccr.dso.ufl.edu/policies/student-honor-code-student-conduct-code/>.

Respect for Diversity

It is my intent that students from all diverse backgrounds and perspectives will be well-served by this course, that students’ learning needs will be addressed both in and out of class, and that the diversity that students bring to this class will be viewed as a resource, a strength, and a benefit for all. It is my intent to present materials and activities that are respectful of diverse genders, sexual orientations, dis/abilities, ages, socioeconomic statuses, ethnicities, races, cultures, perspectives, and other background characteristics. Your suggestions about how to improve the value of diversity in this class are encouraged and appreciated. Additionally, if I have inadvertently scheduled a major deadline that creates a conflict with your religious observances, please let me know as soon as possible so that we can make other arrangements.

CAMPUS RESOURCES

Health, Wellness, and Safety

- Aid-a-Gator: Visit for information about how to receive funding for unanticipated travel, additional technology requirements, or other needs related to an emergency situation.
- Center for Inclusion & Multicultural Engagement: This organization advocates for an inclusive campus for all students across identities and offers a wide range of services, educational opportunities, learning, support, outreach, and activities to students.
- Counseling and Wellness Center: If you are feeling depressed or otherwise concerned about your mental health, please reach out to UF’s Counseling and Wellness Center (CWC). Visit for information on crisis services as well as non-crisis services. You can also call (352) 392-1575 for more information.
- GatorWell Health Promotion Services: Visit for prevention services focused on optimal wellbeing, including Wellness Coaching for Academic Success. You can also call (352) 273-4450.
- Hitchcock Field & Fork Pantry: This organization provides free non-perishable food items, toiletries, and fresh produce for UF students (and others) in need. There is also an online order form.
- Student Health Care Center: Visit for 24/7 information to help you find the care you need. You can also call (352) 392-1161.

- UF Health Shands Emergency Room / Trauma Center: Visit for more information about various medical resources. For immediate medical care, call (352) 733-0111, or go to the emergency room located at 1515 SW Archer Road, Gainesville, FL 32608.
- U Matter, We Care: Visit for information about making healthcare appointments, reporting incidents of bias, substance abuse recovery and support, sexual violence response, mental health and academic support, support for students experiencing homelessness, and more. Please call (352) 392-1575 or email umatter@ufl.edu to report a concern, and a team member will reach out to the student in distress.
- University Police Department: Visit for information on victim services and how to submit tips to the police. Call (352) 392-1111, or call 9-1-1 for emergencies.

Academic Support

- Career Connection Center: Visit for career assistance and counseling services. Located in Reitz Union (Suite 1300), or call (352) 392-1601.
- CLAS Academic Resources: Visit for more information about general studying skills and tutoring. Located in Broward Hall, or call (352) 392-2010. To make an appointment, call (352) 392-6420.
- E-learning Technical Support: Visit for computing assistance. You can also contact the Help Desk by calling (352) 392-4357 or emailing helpdesk@ufl.edu.
- Library Support: Visit for more information about various ways to receive assistance with respect to using the libraries or finding academic resources.
- Student Complaints, On-Campus: Visit for updated information and procedures for on-campus students.
- Student Complaints, Online: Visit for updated information and procedures for online students.
- Writing Studio: Visit for help with brainstorming, formatting, and writing papers. Located at 2215 Turlington Hall, or call (352) 846-1138.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT OF INDIGENOUS LAND & SOVEREIGNTY

The University of Florida is located on the homelands of the Muscogee (Este Mvskokvlke), Timucua, Seminole (simanó-li) peoples, and many more Nations who traded and migrated through these lands and waters that we now call Gainesville. The main campus sits on the original lands of the Potano people, a Timucua-speaking society that was victimized by colonial disease and violence. Their legacy includes advocating for the natural world, farming practices that heal the earth, and connecting to indigenous plants and wildlife through deep respect and conservation. Native peoples are not a relic of the past but continue to thrive in the state of Florida and elsewhere. As an academic institution, it is our responsibility to acknowledge the sovereignty and the traditional territories of these tribal nations, the violence that was used to remove them, and the histories of dispossession that have allowed for the growth of this institution since 1853. Consistent with the university's commitment to diversity, equity and inclusion, understanding the historical and current experiences of Native Nations will help inform the work that we do and foster a more just educational environment.